In principle

I've always believed that life is much shorter than reading - with all respect - a book filled with pages, its pages cried from improvisation, and even shorter than thinking about that, Such books as "Mahfouz" described by saying that the most useful thing is its blank pages.

When I decided to commit that crime against ignorance, lack of creativity and lack of thinking I tried as much as possible to put in front of my eyes some points which I am going to explain it to you in a few lines; to be considered.

To be honest, I'm going to write some things that you probably won't like.

To get started, if you want to read for criticism, close the book and return it to the seller or librarian and buy some tuna instead.

Trust me, tuna is more useful ..

In principle,

- Read a word and understand two. so please focus.
- If you love rock and roll, close the book.
- If you want to read before bed because there is no free time, as you pretend, please just sleep and don't disturb your mind.
- You do not have to read the book in the same index order,

I am not a barber.

- Fear not, I am not going to leave a place for routine advice among us.
- If you are an atheist, I don't think that it will be your favorite place.
- Do not let the stranger name of the author change the way you think about the book.

- If you think you will get tired of this book soon, please close it; I don't want you to have bipolar depression, and do the same when you reach full positivity.

- I assure you that if you do not raise your level of thinking chapter after chapter, you will miss ninety one percent of the nothing thoughts, the percentage is accurate, by the way.

- This is your personal book, so don't be brave and sincere and lend it.

- Blog when you think it approximately deserves to be blogged.

- That book will not go unnoticed on you, not even the rest of the world, so please try not to put it on his face allowing the dirt to find a home with the passage of days and years.

Do not forget this book, it will not forget you

"Consciousness of difference and uniqueness, a characteristic that even man alone has among all creatures, killed this awareness by one argument or another, in one way or another, but it is a kind of dehumanization of man, and from its decline to the level of irrational beings".

Get out of the flock

I have always believed that in the difference there is beauty like the beauty of Eve in the eyes of Prophet Adam or Aisha in the eyes of the Prophet Muhammad, or rather like the moon in our planet as it is the only one we resemble beauty in it.

Did we ask ourselves why lovers tend to use that expression of “you're like the moon”?!

Is this because the moon is more beautiful than the stars .. No no, correct your information, the star is more scientifically beautiful and useful.

Ladies and gentlemen, it's " difference and uniqueness " :

the secret of beauty and balance ... a phrase my mother once told me to teach me the highest meanings of humanity.

Unfortunately, many of us do not know what it means to respect the difference between us or even with this difference in which we are prestigious, and if they find you different, they will ask you to return to the idea of the flock you have to go as well as all of your society.

And to eat as everyone eats, to wear as they wear, and to think as they think, oblivious to the diversity that restores our humanity to us.

Partial liberation from the group's restrictions means giving a golden opportunity for the soul to think outside the frame, exposing all that your group dictates to you, your distance, your environment, your surroundings, to the conscious mind, and its scrutiny and palpation, with your own characteristics, necessarily means your approach to your abstract humanity that is not subject to the restrictions of Making others.

You have the right not to mold, and not be satisfied with everything that comes to you, because the collective mind, regardless of the degree of its presence and balance, if it strikes at a time .. sometimes errs.!

Now I will show you some experiences that prove that a person is a child of his environment and heir:

That in 1939 Dr. Kenneth Clark and his wife, experimenting with children of black race by placing two dolls, one white and one black in front of the children, and asking specific questions to them such as:

What is your favorite doll?

What doll would you like to play with?

What doll looks evil?

The result of the experiment showed that the majority of children (who are black race as we mentioned before) preferred the white doll over the black one, this experiment contributed to convincing the American Supreme Court that discrimination based on race and color in America is against the law, as an attempt to completely eliminate racism.

The surrounding environment has influenced their decisions to the point that they feel in defeat within themselves and the preference of another race over themselves.

This is life, whether you want it or not, but always the advantage for the rule breaker.

You should go ahead not interested in the words of fools and the ordinary, not preoccupied with the routine way they dress and eat. Not even looking at the stones thrown at you as a fruitful tree.

The mathematical equation

I suggest clearing your mind, and try to summarize the following.

The average human lifespan is about 79 years, which means that every 100 years a generation dies with another rebirth.

According to the “Atlas of the World” about 108.2 billion people of the human race were born on this planet called Earth since the beginning of creation.

This astonishing number means that there are nearly 14 times more deaths than people who live now.

Suppose the number is only 100 billion people.

I will ask a question and answer it myself, How many people do you take as a symbol of success out of those tens of billions?

Suppose they are a thousand people.. just assumption, If we divide a thousand people by a hundred billion

(The result would be  $1 \times 10^{-8}$  great people of Human History)

Is this the number that you call the number that changed the intellectual, scientific and cognitive direction of planet Earth, and it is the same number on the way to change me ?!

Wait and wait, dear reader, But before turning the page, hold that infinite number with both hands.

Did you do? you can turn it over now.

$1 \times 10^{-8}$

Who do you think this number of people?

They are, of course, the extraordinary greats, my friend.

Or in another term, the superheroes who were able to change this planet in terms of cognitive, scientific and intellectual direction, as we mentioned previously.

How would you light up your room If Thomas despairs of the failed attempts, as the vast majority do, and I am not excluding you, by the way ?!

How much justice would we lose if Columbus had not been born?!

How would we have been if God had not sent us the prophets ?!

Oh my God, a life without a Quran!!

Or even how would you have been distinguished, different and creative if Anas had not written this book ?!

How and how ... etc. ?!

These characters were not born of a moment or chance, and this great development did not come out of nowhere. Rather, it was thanks to a great and hard effort, and the tremendous contributions of many scientists, inventors, researchers and thinkers from all over the world.

These people spent their lives studying, researching, and meditating and serving science and various sciences, with sincerity and dedication to promote themselves and all humankind.

"Why does the number not become  $1 + 1 \times 10^{-8}$ ?"

Issues should be discussed

"SHOW YOUR SPONTANEITY"

Do not try to dazzle others; you are not spices, show your spontaneity, it's always the best.

How long will you stay hidden behind that mask, which does not completely touch reality .. How long?

Go tell her you don't like green beans, fear not, it won't be the end of the world.

Your natural, bright smile always fulfills the purpose.

Know that life is a tree of hypocrisy, so don't be that rotten fruit hidden between branches and leaves.

" REWRITE YOURSELF "

Rephrase every detail of your life. Go on a date with yourself. Know more information about it. Be Platonic at the time of all his people walking the same usual way while you're saying why I'm not the master of my way?! Know what you want, take serious steps and stay away from all that is negative around you.

Believe me it is the right start to success.

"PRIORITY TO THE READER"

Read to yourself, my friend, don't let the hurricane of bragging take you as it has devoured so many arrogant people before you.

You do not read to take what you have read with you to the workplace, nor do you read just because your friend reads and brags about the words he memorized; Those who say those sayings are innocent like him.

Famine is definitely coming and I mean what I say, no one will actually save you when it comes.

Ensure that armed with culture will be your lifeboat, then I assure you that you will be a captain.

Or, more accurately, you will fulfill our previous equation.

You should always believe this remarkable quote from the great Margaret Fuller:

"Today a reader, tomorrow a leader."

"DO NOT FALL IN LOVE WITH FOOLS"

I have always admired the girl who has her own splendor, the girl who walks lightly, and is completely unattractive despite her inner beauty that is unknown and undervalued by some, who has her own thinking and her own spiritual beliefs, who are not concerned with these topics that are useless to her.

Who can cook and love perfectly.

I believe she is the one to which the hat should be lifted, knowing that I do not wear a hat but I will do it if I find her.

"I've always hoped a French girl; she's quite perfect".

" LOOK FOR POSITIVITY WHEREVER YOU ARE "

When I was at one of the "strengthening the child's personality" conferences, I asked a simple question to not few children to measure the intellectual reach.

The question was: (What do we look at in the half-full cup, the full half or the empty half?)

Most of the answers were largely expected and the usual answer is to look at the full half of the cup, until a child sitting at the end of the hall surprised me and raised his hand for the answer and when I allowed it Standing, I was faded by the answer without even asking him what his name was, but the magnificence of the answer covered me with all his apparent alienation, he said to me: "I always look at the empty half.. and seek to fill it".

I was surprised when I was told that this child lives by his left leg only since the other was amputated as a result of a hard accident he had suffered when he was six years old.

Do you really feel despair or frustration?

" I NEVER LOSE "

Life is spoils and lessons that we draw from all life experiences, whether successful or not, you are always the winner.

Thomas A. Edison says of his "failed" experiences, as some assume:

"I have not failed .. I've just found 10000 ways that won't work".

Always believe that behind every hardship there is always ease. If you did not hit the moon, in some way, you might blow up Mars.

"Dawn is inevitably coming"

If I were a sea, I wish I could be a fridge

Now, it's five and eleven minutes on the morning of Tuesday, and with the dawning of a new day, mental cells are grappling directly with the endless waves of the sea, and after a great struggle between them my pen intervened to resolve that conflict, Let me tell you the cause of the conflict.

I don't always like that so-called sea, sometimes I think it's a bit hypocritical; Because it hides more than what appears.

Did you ever think that:

- Sea has waves .. Too many similar waves that do not know the meaning of the exception?
- Sea has always burned the hearts of many mothers?
- Sea has a beach, sea has an end?

- With each wave that comes with an ebb force, it collides with a withdrawing wave with the force of flow at the shore, so that wave begins to diminish until it disappears ... And so?

- The sea empties from its secrets?

it has his own pride; When he feels that there is a higher intensity intruder than he throws on the bottom, which you might think is just a bottom, but in reality it is only a top of the bottom.

As for the refrigerator, I really like the refrigerator.

The refrigerator carries a lot of spontaneity.

Some people may think that she is only a large box that contains a lot of freon, it costs you a lot of money to buy it and space from where you live to put it in, but for me it is that

French girl that we talked about beforehand, she is beautiful from the inside that is in her presence and despite my knowledge not It contains items of food, fruit, juices, and cold drinks.

I go back to it and open it to take an insight into them. It is safety in a country dominated by isolation and the constant reference to curb appetite.

Consult your childhood notebooks, how long was that refrigerator manipulating you when you were using up its energy, how many times did you keep opening and closing the refrigerator door in order to notice the light that inhabits the right corner of it?

As for the plastic fruits that carry a magnet in their belly, That should be written for her another book.

"Do you still believe that the book appears from its title?"

It is not half past five

It's 5:28,

To be honest, I do not actually know why I put this chapter, but I could not bear more than this; Moaning disturbed me such numbers in my right ear:

“Why does a person not investigate the accuracy of reading the value of the percentage if it is 24.87%, and with complete disrespect, he says it is 25% .. Sir, am I inferior?!”

You may say to yourself how like this topics will benefit me, but if you think deeper you will raise your hands and automatically will clap for the writer; attention to the smallest details shows the authenticity of the speech.

If I told you there was a dinosaur over your head, would you believe me?

Rather you will say that I am among those who support the theory of flat Earth,

But if I say that there are 423 dinosaurs above your head, at some point your mind will be provoked and forced to think of a reason why I choose that number, then be certain that the moment I make your mind skeptic in its logic, this is a great achievement and a step in the way of the..

Words on the tip of the tongue

Each of us is a hero in his story, of course our stories differ as well as events and personalities, the days attract us - as it was written - with divine gravity called "destiny.

But we do not know, in fact, the script of our lives was written in the form of verses of poetry that are beautiful in the rhyme or merely a prose text accompanied by a few language skills that give us a sterile musical bell?!

Also, we do not know what is the unopened end of that story and how many pages remain for us in it.

"I will tell god everything"

before he's killed

Sir Isaac Newton was very unpretentious.

“The sadness will last forever”

As he lay on his death bed, having apparently shot himself, Vincent Van Gogh is said to have uttered the final words,

“We do not give up. Win or die, and this is not the end. Instead, you will have to fight the next generation and the future generations. For me, my life will be longer than the life of my hangman.”

Those were the last words of the fighter, Omar Al-Mukhtar, who uttered them on the gallows.

By the way, it was said that he did not die by hanging.

The secret recipe of my mother's bread

When I was in preparatory school, my mom was my everything.

One day I dared to ask her:

Can I fall in love like all guys my age?

She left the book in her hand and looked at me for quite some time with her smile, which always reassured me, but I could not understand the significance of this smile at the time, perhaps the idea touched me when it broke off my lack of understanding by saying:

Do you really want to do what these guys are doing and follow in their footsteps ?!

I did not answer, but my mind was repeating that naive reprobate question, "Why not ?!"

She noticed that answer on my face, and then she laughed and I laughed at her laughter.

Then I smiled a smile of shame and the smile was a purely spontaneous smile, and on my way out of the room she called me to sit next to her and she said to me some words that were carved and engraved in my heart before my mind:

"Oh spoiled boy, I think you are smart enough to understand that you are not everyone. You are right, you are always right, do you really want my advice? Go to the refrigerator, take out a loaf of bread and put some feta cheese in it, and that's enough, believe me. "

"You are now wondering if I run away from this question or what is the link between bread and feta cheese to fall in love? Well, if you eat a loaf of fresh bread, your physical health will improve and psychological, and you will be able to focus on your studies, and thus your future, you will enter the desired college, then you marry the happy-go-lucky girl that your heart points to, she will give birth to three children, the eldest of whom will be a boy, and you will call him Malik after the great companion Anas Bin Malik, three children who will really work to add to society and be good offspring benefit humanity and elevate it."

The daughter of Al-Faqih convinced me.

How to be exceptional

Now I'm going to show you about five steps to follow to be exceptional in your community.

(Knowing that you can not follow them and become exceptional too):

" Why friendship?! "

In the general international average, ordinary people should have three friends by human nature, and your lack of this number is said to indicate that you have social problems, but if you do not have a friend at all, you must be an exceptional person.

" We are not looking for happiness, it may or may not come "

Happiness is the dream and goal of everyone, for all human beings seek in their lives to search for joy and happiness except for the exceptional, they have their own environment that rolls between depression and stability and they do not seek to change that.

In the behavior of these people, they do not care about their psychological state and do not believe happiness is important, but sometimes they think it is a negative factor that causes intellectual and social deterioration.

" We are quite nerd "

Mostly the person "Nerd" is ahead of others one step ahead, not only because he can predict the steps and choices of the traditional people around him, but also because he reads books blandly, watched movies, and collects information on many uncommon things.

And comprehensive before anyone else, which makes it the best dependency to resort to, whether for more understanding or to collect information.

" We really know who we are "

That the person is the most different from those around him, this means that he is honest with himself, and knows very well what he likes, what he wants and what he does not like, resulting in his pursuit of his dream wherever he is.

It reflects others who live their lives through the eyes of others, alone "exceptional" knows his passion well and follows him, that passion that ignites the fuel of his inner world and makes him able to live life in a real way, not from behind a veil.

"We are very positive with others but with ourselves.. I do not think"

It is like saying that we guide the lost and do not know how to leave the maze.

Islam says that if someone comes to you and you feel that he needs an amount of energy to charge it, do not hesitate and do not disappoint him. Christianity is also urged to solve people's problems and acquire what is good to say.

Let your smile brighten his day, and if he comes at night, let the smile rest his sleep and rest him, and as the Prophet Muhammad said:

" Maybe one single smile saves someone from destroying " And you know well what he meant by the word "your brother".

" U.R.U "

You are you, there is no one who resembles you, you are a new type of human being, a completely different kind of person.

Do you really think you are not unique ?!

Well, to reassure your heart ... the ordinary don't worry about being ordinary.

You are a logical person who believes that you are unparalleled like a fingerprint.

“The days of your life are all numbers, and perhaps your day is the last number .. Are you still waiting?!”

Savour it

because you are really a yawn if it goes.”

The end of the infinity

"Nothing has no end, the universe is no exception"

A short sentence, which I spent all my life thinking of, accompanied by some deep spiral questions which have no bottom: Will there come a day that we will witness the inevitable end of infinity?

Will the day come when we know the true numeric value of  $\text{Pi}(\pi)$ ?

Will we see a clockwise -that does not suffer from technical malfunction or a lack of energy-stop ?

Will the day come when we reach the edge of this planet?

Or even will any person reach the end of the path in which you are creating in your imagination?

Are you really trying to find solutions to these dilemmas right now?! It is a pleasure to tell you that your flexible gel mind, which can be carried in one palm, is not programmed to understand that  $\infty$ .

Stop thinking about perfection, Infinity is not a place that anyone can easily reach, nor even these pseudo-philosophers who claim to have reached the brink of thinking, I do not know maybe they have really arrived but only the moment the soul exits .. Nor do businessmen who think they have reached the edge of happiness and money.

But I am absolutely sure that the person hidden somewhere on this planet has almost reached its limit .. be wary of death.

Also, I know that someone is waiting for us on this edge, giving his right hand to us while awaiting the seeker to survive, as for us it is a lifeline, but God alone knows whether it is from our lineage.

"What if we replace this mind with an egg?! At least it does not know what its limits are"

Let the creatures for the Creator

As a difference, we will differ slightly from the rest of the different topics for this different book.

Taking into account the feelings of others, regardless of their status, is a human, behavioral, and moral duty.

Do not hurt or embarrass anyone, whatever the justifications are, how many words have built a soul and grown in thought, and how much of a word has killed a feeling and destroyed a feeling. .

Dear reader, believe me, no one deserves to sleep while thinking that he was not enough.

We all came from the same clay and we will all return to it one day.

So don't let an underrated episode pass your mind, even for a while.

And never try to embarrass the sane person, whatever you are.

Once again, never try to embarrass the sane; you will put yourself in an unenviable position.

All of this does not mean belittling yourself.

Everything collapses in front of yourself and your dignity

“even your heart.”

But what if a foolish one tries to embarrass you?

I’m going to show you a few suggestions that it might save you from this line of people:

- Try to get out of the situation, neuroscientists tell us you only have 20 minutes to have an emotional conversation to change directions; After that, you and the other person will be locked into a nervous pattern that depends on the possibility of transformation only after a period of separation.

So don't go around trying to improve things. Get some distance, and then, if you are very leaning, reconsider it with the other person.

You can say something like

"I'm really not ready to discuss this with you now" or "I'm sorry you feel this way" or nothing at all. Just leave as fast as you can.

- You are "Homo Faber",

No matter how funny, don't laugh.. Do not.

If you show them a small portion of your smile to them, they will take it seriously to underestimate you and continue to bother you.

On the contrary, nothing appears on the features of your face except complete immobility.

Try as much as possible to direct your eyes to the satirical eyes and between his eyebrows.

You are wise enough to instill in them the idea that you are not that idiot who is following in their footsteps, you are "Homo Faber".

If Your opponent apologizes, do not say, "That's OK!" easily, find out what they were thinking and why they said that you just undermined the effort of speaking up for yourself.

If it's really oK, why did you raise an issue about it then? Again, this sends mixed messages.

A better response is: "Thank you, I accept your apology," creating a clear premise that your opponent must own their actions. When they apologize to you, this better response acknowledges the offending behavior rather than minimizing its impact on you with a trivializing "it's OK."

"Did you drink the milk before sleeping?"

Minutes in the mind of a sleeping squirrel

I'm Ziddé, a squirrel in a branch of the Congo River Basin forest tree.

I spend my life among hazelnut trees and their leaves.

My only concern is to cut branches with my strong teeth.

To build a house in which my charming squirrel wife embraces the charming smile, and watching my children squirrels dancing on the tones of the cockroach and symphony of frogs attractive and I live in security, safety and peace away from these strange creatures.

I am a medical drug, an injection, or a blood bag. Someone needs me, his soul is standing at his throat and is ready to go out.

I made an ant submerged in the Pacific Ocean, I'm a rotting tomato, in tons of healthy tomatoes, I live in the safety of my country without external interference aimed at spreading ignorance and exploiting the resources of my country and sometimes my murder and rape of women.. no way!?

I saw the prophets

Or I am not in hell

I, I, I ..... etc.

What an annoying alarm clock!

To get back to bitter reality, always remember that we are only human, struggling with the will, every day, the evils that have been mixed with us, and we try throughout the day over and over again only to resemble ourselves, not to stain with the thoughts of those around us and not to keep up with his view of all matters and not be fascinated by the standards of his life and not care about his priorities, we strive in this world to maintain The fact that we are with all of our qualities that resemble us and our clothes that befit us and the walls of our house that give us peace and our priorities that make life balanced easy and simple, we do not aspire to prove something or even exile it and we do not have in the world a moral wealth more than certainty and patience, do not bear us what we cannot tolerate nor try to ignite The flames of comparing our humble walls of life do not contribute to setting our priorities according to your fragile life, we do not resemble you and do not want to turn your image one day, not a defect in you, but asceticism and our urgent need only for peace.

The Prophet Muhammad in the eyes of his nation's strangers

- At the beginning, know that this chapter is only an optional chapter in reading that book, but before turning the page ignoring it, know that it is the most precious chapters to my heart "as a human being"..

Bernard Shaw says the world is most in need of a man in this thinking of Muhammad, the Prophet who always put his religion in respect and reverence.

Many people disagreed with the opinion, considering the amount of false images that have arisen in their minds from their earliest years from non-divine religions that urge blind intolerance to religion, as well as the policies of countries that have put cupping on the minds of peoples through images also that they themselves want to send to people in deformation of that religion.

In confirmation of that statement, here's what Thomas Carlyle said:

“It is a great shame for anyone to listen to the accusation that Islam is a lie and that Muhammad was a fabricator and a deceiver. We saw that he remained steadfast upon his principles, with firm determination; kind and generous, compassionate, pious, virtuous, with real manhood, hardworking and sincere.

Besides all these qualities, he was lenient with others, tolerant, kind, cheerful and praiseworthy and perhaps he would joke and tease his companions ..He was just, truthful, smart, pure, magnanimous and present-minded; his face radiant as if he had lights within him to illuminate the darkest of nights;

he was a great man by nature who was not educated in a school nor nurtured by a teacher as he was not in need of any of this."

Some say that Muhammad is the greatest political figure in history, others say that he was the greatest moral figure in history, while others say that he is the greatest judge, businessman, orator, Advocate for equality between men and women and haven for orphans in history.

Opinions differed, but they are completely sure that Muhammad, the human and messenger, was and will always be the greatest in history.

Tolstoy also stated:

"Undoubtedly, the Prophet Muhammad is one of the greatest reformers who rendered extensive service to the human community.

As an indication of his greatness, it suffices to mention that he guided an entire nation to the light of truth and made it incline to serenity and peace and opted to live a life of asceticism.

He forbade acts of bloodshed or human sacrifice.

He opened up for his nation the way to progress and civilization ..

That was a great feat which nobody – no matter how powerful he may be – is able to achieve.

Such a man, indeed, is highly respectable and estimable ".

German orientalist Sigrid Hunke also added:

The Messenger of Islam knew that a woman would find her way next to a man. Therefore, it is preferable for a woman to be religious, to have a certain dress, so that she can protect herself from the evil of looks and the evil of uncovering the bad things.

And a man of this genius can only say that he presented to the community the highest and perfect verses of idealism and it was worthy of humanity to remain indebted to this man who changed the course of history with his great message.

Gandhi expressed his opinion on this issue with great interest, saying:

" I wanted to know the best of the life of one who holds today an undisputed sway over the hearts of millions of mankind, I became more than ever convinced that it was not the sword that won a place for Islam in those days in the scheme of life.

It was the rigid simplicity, the utter self-effacement of the Prophet the scrupulous regard for pledges, his intense devotion to his friends and followers, his intrepidity, his fearlessness, his absolute trust in God and in his own mission.

These and not the sword carried everything before them and surmounted every obstacle.

When I closed the second volume (of the Prophet's biography), I was sorry there was not more for me to read of that great life. "...

The Prophet Muhammad cried one day, and they said: What makes you cry, O Messenger of God?

He said: I miss my loved ones, they said: Are we not your loved ones, O Messenger of God
He said: No, you are my friends, my beloved people who came after me, believed in me and did not see me. –

"Once, a man entered the Messenger of God, may God bless him and grant him peace, while he was sitting among the Companions, then the man said: Which of you is Muhammad?"

The other side of the difference coin

We have talked before about how to get out of the herd with many examples, lines and words, and perhaps the most prominent of them is the experience that we discussed by the famous example

"monkeys and bananas" which embodies the model of misery that the mind takes when it shrinks due to the collective idea, and in its form is a depiction of how the differences between humans are clear. The animal is precisely from this angle, while it is assumed that the mind deepens these differences between them as required by creation and the nature required.

Really ... We didn't?!

Never mind..

It is time for me to write one of the most important chapters of the book; For the book, it is a weight on the other side of the scale.

Not every difference is excellence .. but every excellence is a result of difference.

Some words stopped me before, and rarely have there been words from someone like us on this planet that caught my attention -except of Bukowski-, its content was:

" Drowning inside the crowd

I realized that getting out of the herd was exhausting

Hey, herd, wait for me to come back It is difficult for a person like to live according to a specific curriculum and a single lifestyle. The method of study has been work and marriage, so death, and it is difficult for me as well to live inside the herd while I think outside it.

It was my first attempt to think outside the box ten years ago that I took out my thinking and misled watching the box from the outside.

The mind lost there and the body is locked here inside ...

I discovered that the box was rotting in the form of disgust, the victim glorified the executioner, the judge defended the criminal, and the victim defended the judge, the Wonder box. I realized after ten years that my thinking should not have reached these limits, but rather I should have gone astray with the herd and realized that there is only one solution to migrate, and after the mind came out of the box, the body went astray in it, and I fell into a dramatic dilemma that is difficult to analyze.

The so-called body here and the mind there was better I have to be a good citizen according to their expression.

At least until it is time to move from inside to outside and I think that I have to return to the herd. Will the mind accept this, or will it announce its usual disobedience to the rules of the body, or will the other solution be achieved, and the two will go together for a wider and less disgusting fund than this.

A story that fate will take care of writing, or let us say, fate may be guaranteed by writing it.

Perhaps the supplication will be enough to change the units towards the path of wishes.

Perhaps the candle of hope burning inside the darkness will not be extinguished, but it will ignite the lights of dreams, and perhaps the fast life will not be brutal by the wind, but will result in a symbol of change, why not?

It does not mean that it will not open and the restrictions are closed.

It does not mean that it will not be broken, and the stopping flight does not mean that it will not continue.

Perhaps my presence in this box and my suffering inside it are just a station to cross towards the wider one.

Exiting the least damage and as soon as possible. "

Few people still believe that the difference lies in things that are inconsistent with logic and may lead to atheism and God forbid, some of whom believe that if he joined the flat Earth group, then he would have got out from the flock, and others would leave their religion, raising signs yes to liberate the woman from the barrier of religion, and from them Those who wanted to get out of the flock even if it were in contradiction to what was in their minds .. perhaps for the purpose of fame.

May God forgive those institutions that finance such things for the purpose of placing humanity under a certain level of ignorance.

This is what the virus left in our heart

As you read this small book, be sure that you were not one of the few survivors who survived that curse embodied in the form of a virus, but that you were among the survivors who knew the facts that had been hidden for thousands of years.

God only knows - while you are reading this book - am I alive or did I accompany the train of the dead, or in other words, those who perished who could not change anything from God's will.

I am writing to you now and the world at the peak of the cursed virus spread, I am writing to you and I do not know whether we will find a vaccine for the virus or will we accompany it

I am writing to you now, and I do not know whether this book will be completed, or Corona has another opinion.

But I am still writing..

The virus has engraved in my heart more than one sentence.

I will try as quickly as possible to summarize them before the date comes, the date you cannot ignore.

It's the train's date..

▪This virus taught me that life will not stop at anyone.

▪It taught me that survival is for God alone, and that we really are nothing but successors of Him on earth, and that He can easily take our souls to Him in less time than a blink of an eye.

▪This virus also taught me that life is much shorter than saying "tomorrow, I will .....".

▪This virus has a very large pride, it will not come to your home unless you exit.

▪O noble virus, you taught us that the value of science is the first for peoples, and that the deterioration of science is the product of our despotic rulers who neglected their people and left them in support of healthy, advanced nations in the countries of the world.

▪This disguised cursed, whose mass in the world does not exceed 3 grams, taught us that some countries are only a balloon full of helium, or another analogy, such as hay on water, which applies to them exactly the Turkish proverb which says

- We live in a global interconnected link.

- Your life is a number of days .. Maybe today is the last number.

- It taught me that the Alps is not as rigid as we believed.

- It gave me the ability to save some times reading for the legends and what they said before death.

- Revisiting our hygiene rituals.

▪We actually do not need hypocrisy again, how many decades have we spent while we are handing hands and kisses and within us something that contradicts reality.

▪We learned that a president of states was right, ha.

▪Nature breathes with the absence of humans.

Someone - unfortunately I don't know her - wrote on "Janahnoor blog" something that touched me deeply, let me give you some of her creativity:

"You once asked me what your dream is and what you wish for so I will tell you some of my dreams that seem small but they all mean to me, I somehow want history to remind me, to immortalize my life over thousands of years, I want to write about me a little girl in her colorful notebook one night that I was beautiful and I was Fictional and I did not belong to this world that is full of falsehood, and I also loved you outside this world somewhere perhaps above a cloud in the sky that carried a weak wind to nowhere at times, I want to circulate the world in search of myself for my soul, for new books and new faces and for a painting Inside a museum whose existence was not noticed by anyone but the dust of the years and from a far place I know very well that he is waiting for me, I want to write about you until the inks are executed, about that night that we spoke for the first time and about that symphony that does not stop in my ears since that day, about the touch of your hands that I express With the world, on your thirtieth birthday, and on the beauty of that thirtieth man, who, thanks to God, has become my husband, and the husband, friend, and companion of the path, on every little detail that you care about for me and on every time I stop loving myself to find you love me more, on every book you gift to me I read it to you with my voice and that I prayed to him in your heart and about every movie that we watched together and told me every scene you remembered me in order to find the same scene that was immortalized in my memory of you, for every prayer in which I shed my tears in order that God descends on your calm heart and the certainty that everything will be fine one day and that you are the most beautiful thing that happens It will still happen.

I wrote this letter to my husband a year ago from today, Friday, the 29th of May, at exactly eleven o'clock, my heart still has the same wishes and passion."

And another creative person said: Write this note on your business notebook, personal notebook, or mobile screen and read it every morning:

Every time I look at the past I know that I was a strong warrior, I triumphed over myself a lot in matters that I thought at the end of it the universe will end, and every time I start again, imagine how strong you are that strong that made you go through all this past and still when you fall Again and again, you are standing on solid ground and ready for the next.

Whatever it is, you who have withstood the most difficult challenges and vicissitudes are now defeated?

You are a strong, patient, passionate warrior full of certainty and hope."

As for me, I have to put my own simple touch in that chapter, so blog what I will tell you, please:

"Do you feel despair or frustration?

Try to accomplish a mission that will restore your vitality to you, any task, read a complete book, read al-Kursi verse, give up guilt, learn a new habit, get rid of negative behavior, master

Do it then see the difference in your feelings."

In order to add some fun to the book,

I put to you "This is not an exam" that is his name; Let the creativity inside you go out, my friend.

First, you must abide by the three laws laid down before you now.

- You should bring a paper and a pen next to you when you finish answering the question in that paper.

Do not rush and paste it in the book, but rather wait and wait, then come back after a period of no less than six hours after writing the answers in the external paper, and paste it carefully.

- If you want to answer questions in an expected and naive way in answering, it is better for you to pass that chapter.

What about wisdom, dear reader?!

- You are not obligated by the number of lines of answer.

If your answer is longer, there are always a lot of blank pages in the book that you can visit in its loneliness.

- One last warning, I repeat it, this book is not a general book that you can lend to your friend, it now occupies a part that is not small for you.

Good Luck ..

I wasn't created in vain

If you are among those who live in hidden areas of the flock try as much as possible to reconsider eating tuna, I beg you.

I have always believed in the idea that God created me for some reason ... What is it and when do I find it?! He who created me alone knows.

If we asked an old man over 80 years old, how many times in your life had you looked at the color of grass?

How many times did you see the void surrounding you?

Did it ever occur to you that you think about these contrasting petals?

If they were created in vain, why do they bear these colors?

Wouldn't it be more useful if I gave you one color ?!

I don't know why our souls give in to that sadness?

How can we allow him to stop our eyes and curb our chests even though we inhabit this vast universe?

Do they really have a power that makes us captive inside our cages and our concern our souls were not created in vain, they did not exist to be captive to this body or a nation when that concern was not created to give in to weakness.

Once the idea comes to my mind that I will go unnoticed in the world without history reminding me of even a word that makes my body shiver in fear, there is an issue that I was created for, perhaps saving humanity from something and we do not know.

As for the question that you ignored - your habit of sabotaging things - The train faster or Mount Everest taller?

I answer you with confidence myself, telling you that the sea is wider; each of us was born with a cause, each of us has its own glory, It is you who enlighten our planet ..

A lot of nothing

At the age of ten I wanted to write a small book with simple scientific content, then I told myself if I wanted to write a book like the others that people put on his face in the shelves that yawned from their abundance; In order for this space to occupy the shelves or decorate the shape of the shelf, it is advisable for you to go and complete the duty of social studies that has grown while writing.

In order to be right, I did not complete that duty, not because I did not prefer geography but because I was interested in writing that book, entrenched in my mind the idea of leaving the years by itself evolving and changing its content and the way in which the reader's mind is provoked and compels him to think.

At that time I was met with a lot of mockery.

So how can a child who has not reached adulthood write a book and how can he originally think about writing a book?!

As for the title,

In the first days of writing this book and its time, I was also at that age mentioned above, I wanted to show off my mentality in front of the mathematics teacher and divulge to him my secret that I wanted to hide, but .. what an age!

I was expecting support and encouragement from him, but in reality, in an unexpected way, he replied:

"I thought you were smart enough, but pretending to do so assured me of your foolishness.

My student, which comes from nothing, goes to nothing"

In the end, I would like to address a word to that professor

"Math crocodile, I think you - somehow - ignited that nothing that was inside me ...
Thank you."

"What if a person was empty ?!
Will he be filled with emptiness or just a hollow object?!"

About the writer and your book

This book was written to reach people who were exhausted against their will, for those who were overly human.

The idea of someone writing a book, and one of the inhabitants of other cities and countries acquires it, it easily enters and clings to someone's heart even when they finish reading it, as such, it delights me and encourages me to do more.

As for the author,

The author does not have enough CV to show in the back cover of this little book.

But you must realize that he did his best to bring out that crystal studded with a crown full of gold that you can wear whenever you want.

But what the writer guarantees is that you will automatically write in your CV that once you read a book which his young writer wrote in it:

"Here I talk about things that often talk about you."
