This version discussed the subject of the waqf in the digital world, clarified its forms and rulings, and accordingly discussed a number of issues related to this topic.

The research plan includes an introduction, preface, five chapters and a conclusion.

the introduction demonstrated the importance of this topic, and the reasons for its selection, as well as shown related literature reviews, the features distinguishing herein, as explained in the research plan and methodology.

The preface includes three topics, the first topic discusses endowment in general, defines the digital content, demonstrates the working method of digital equipment, reasons of nomination of such name. This preface defines the digital endowment and the subject of this research.

The second topic adapts the digital endowment, demonstrates that the digital endowments are endowed moral rights. Also, it discusses the financial rights and demonstrates that the meaning of money includes notables and non-notables. The third topic demonstrates the required conditions in digital endowment, including conditions of establishing digital endowment and other conditions required to be defined as digital endowment.

The first chapter is divided into two topics, the first topic demonstrates the main forms of digital endowment: the digital site, digital account, digital program and digital file. It also demonstrates the advantages and disadvantages of each form, establishment requirements and their continuity. The second topic adopts such forms and demonstrates that they are within the scope of adaption to digital endowments in general. And then, it clarifies the most significant differences among such forms.
