

The World of Tales

The City of Delicious Shapes

By

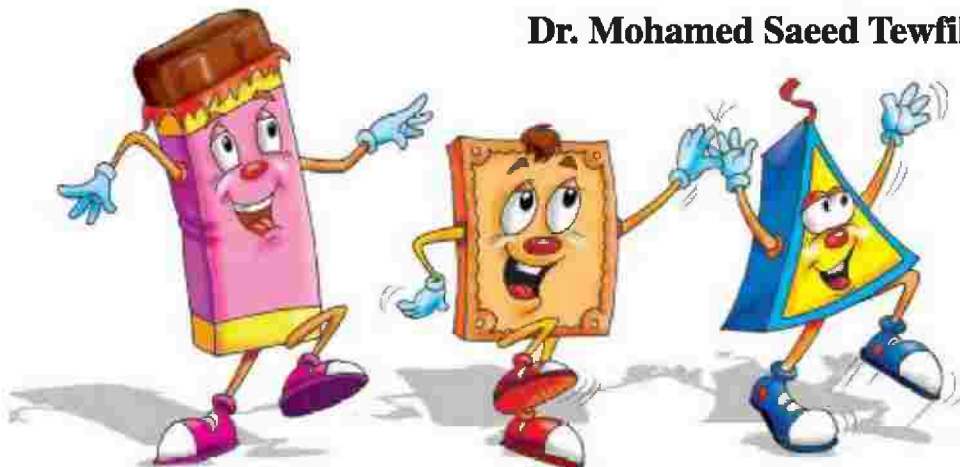

Salama Mohamed Salama

Illustrated by

Ahmed Samir Mohamed

Translated by

Dr. Mohamed Saeed Tewfik

SAFEER

Safeer. All right reserved

ISBN 000 - 000 - 000 - 0

The department store is very huge.

There are many kids.

The store was stacked with food,
but the kids are not interested at all.

Some foods decided to draw the kids'
attention.

They grouped themselves together.

They made a variety of shapes
such as circles,
triangles and rectangles.

The kids were amazed with these delicious shapes and they queued to buy them, leaving the toy corner .

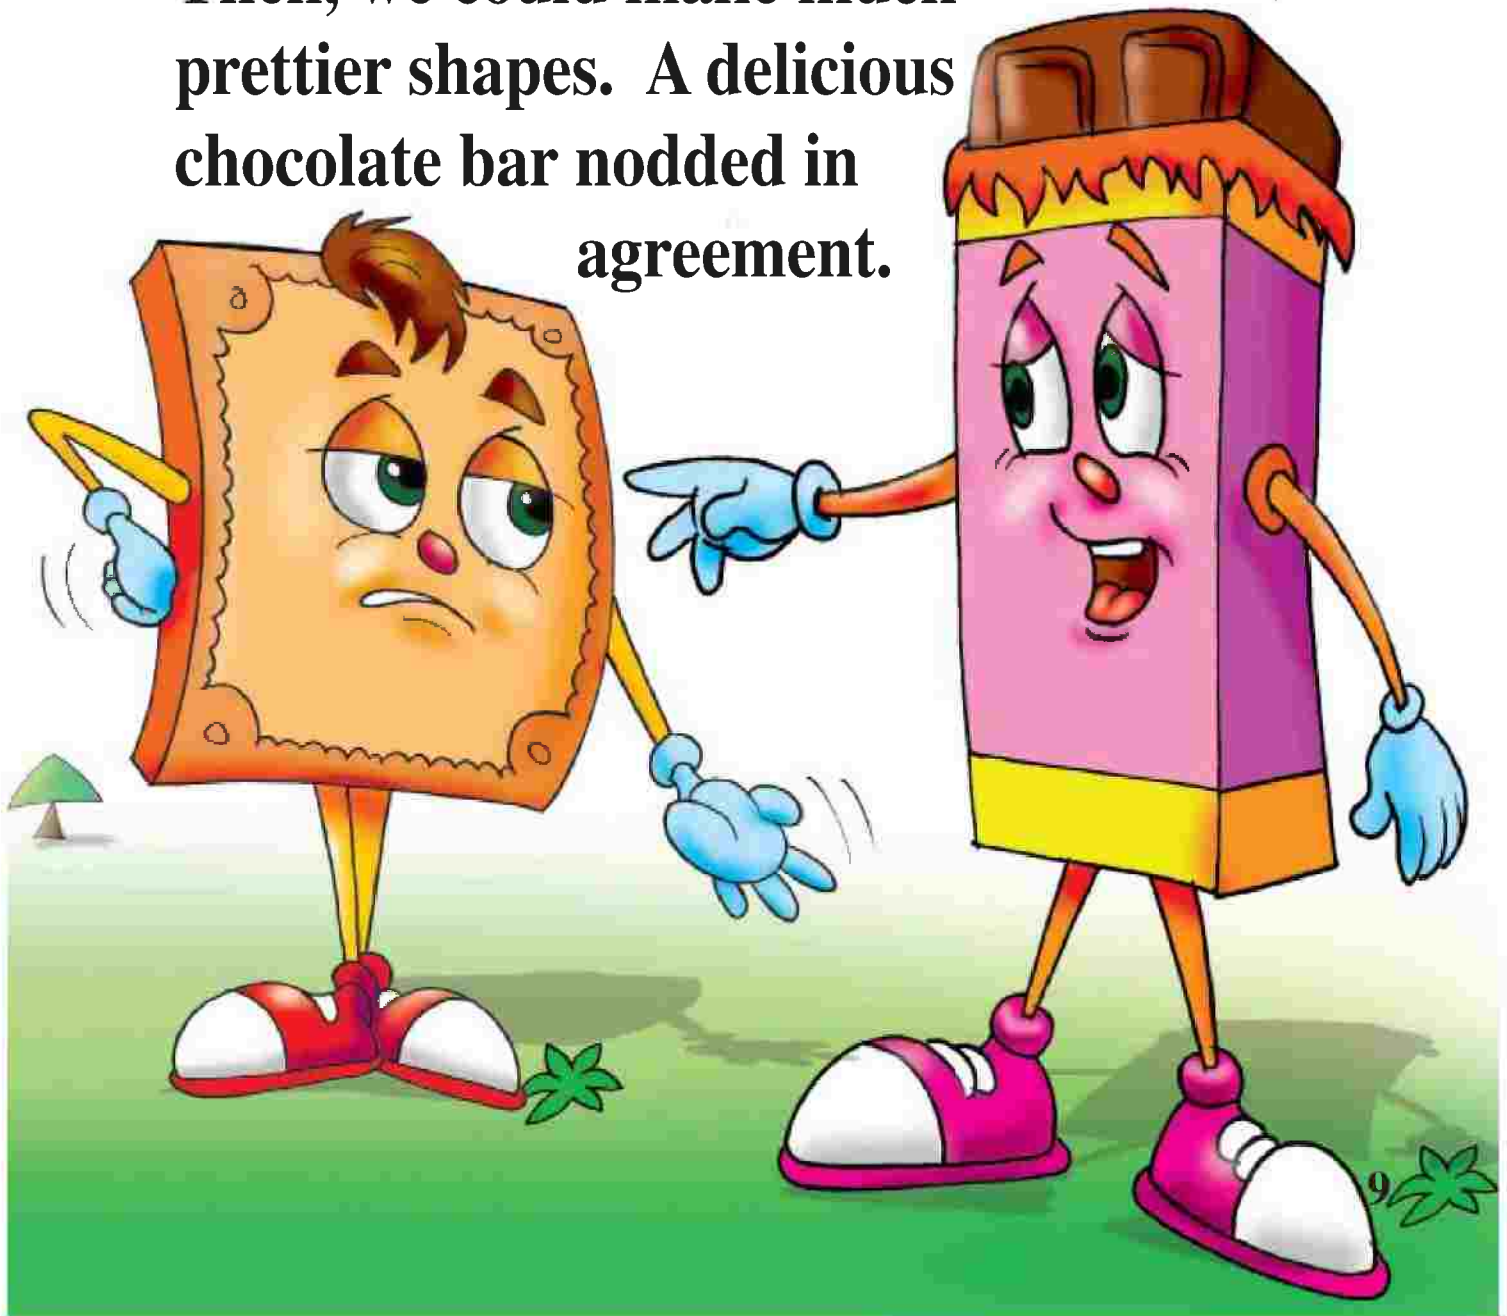

Few days later, the kids lost their interest.

Mr. Square Biscuit suggested to invite other kinds of food to join them.

Then, we could make much prettier shapes. A delicious chocolate bar nodded in agreement.

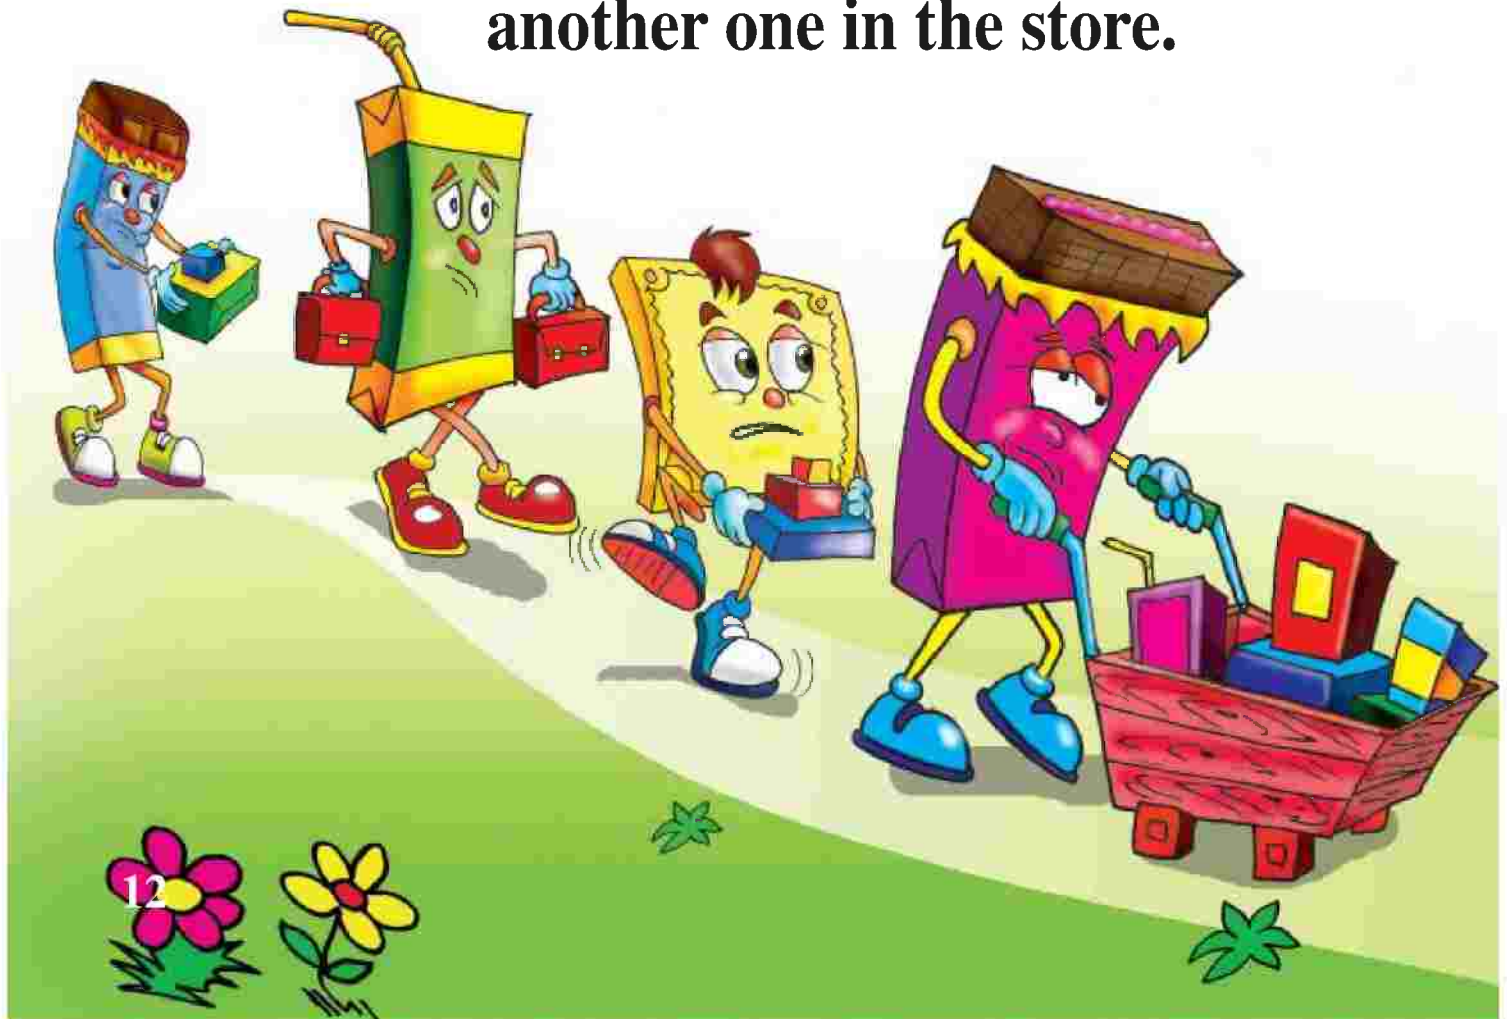

The cheese triangles got angry and they didn't welcome any other foods.

They asked Mr.
Biscuit and the
chocolate bar to go
to another corner
in the store.

Mr. Biscuit, Mr. Chocolate bar
and their friends sadly left their favorite corner for another one in the store.

In another corner of the store, circular and
oval foods made
beautiful shapes.

When they saw the
squares and rectangles
looking for a place, they welcome to be altogether
in their corner.

The square, rectangular,
circular and oval foods
gathered together.

The city of delicious shapes
became a really wonderful place.
The kids were back queuing to buy these delicious foods.

On the other hand, the city
of cheese triangles became unattractive after
other shapes left it.

The cheese triangles
were left alone and
sad.

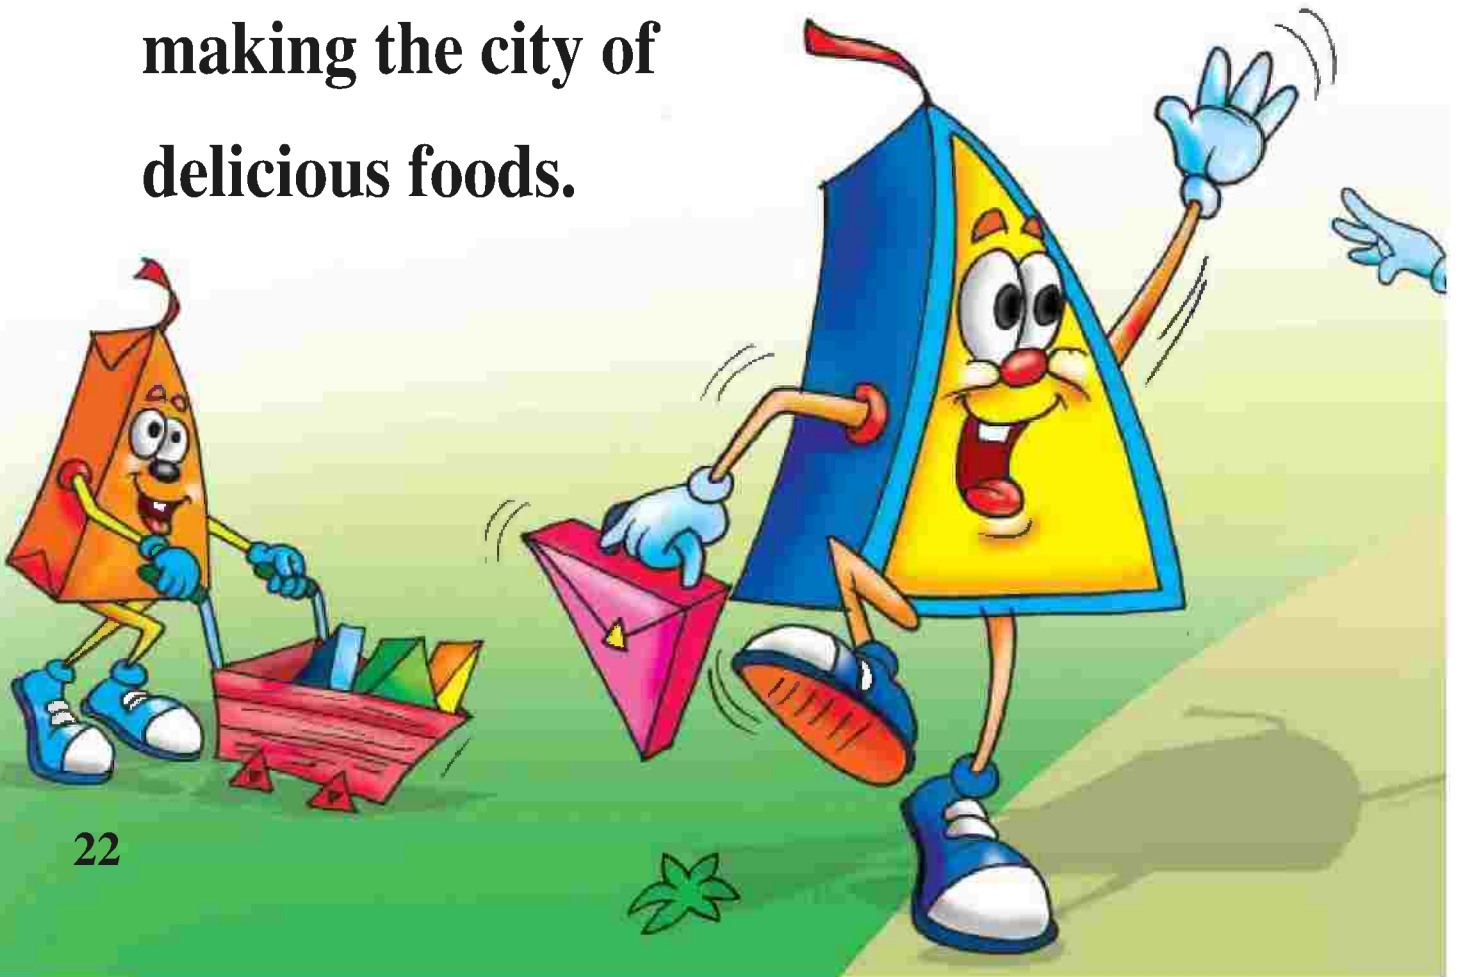

Mr. Square Biscuit noticed the sadness of the cheese triangle.

It jumped from its place, went to the cheese triangle and invited it
as well as all cheese triangles to join
their beautiful city.

The cheese triangle was delighted to hear what Mr. Biscuit said, and it asked its friends to take part in making the city of delicious foods.

The foods welcome them and everybody sang joyfully and
played to celebrate
their beautiful city.

By the end of the day, the kids bought all the contents of the city, and the delicious shapes rebuilt their city again.